

ABSTRACT

Generation of genetic constructions based on modified fragments of the hepatitis A virus (HAV) genome, using the strain M2, isolated in Cuba. Nucleotides sequences of these 5 fragments fused to the appropriated localization and regulation signals, are expressed in transgenic plant. The obtained recombinant antigens of the HAV are composed of pentamers and /or empty envelope, able to develop immune response.